

Learning Resource Materials available through himsr.org

Our institute have subscribed “ClinicalLearning” which is an online practical/ skills modules for Medical Undergraduate students developed by Elsevier India.

These modules will aid you in skills/practical lab before and after the lectures for a better understanding of the courses and revision for the exam. It consists of instructionally designed modules with appropriate use of videos, animations, interactions, illustrations, professional voice over and self assessment. It includes practical skills modules in the subjects of Neuro Anatomy, Biochemistry, Physiology, Microbiology, Internal Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynecology, Pathology, Orthopedics, Dermatology, Ophthalmology, ENT

You can use these modules to supplement your teaching as these have videos & animations through computers in college by logging on to www.clinicallearning.com/himsr/

(No username & Password is required)

Please use these resources and give your valuable feedback in contact us form.